1. [redacted] 28 Soviet soldiers, allegedly signal communications men, arrived in the town on two trucks on 24 April 1950 and were quartered in the Goehren Police Home. The soldiers were to construct a radio station.

2. On 29 April 1950, it was observed that the soldiers wore black-bordered crimson epauletts, and that a radio mast had been erected near Nordperd (N 55/P 95). The road to Nordperd, which had been blocked during the construction, was now open to traffic. The radio mast consisted of steel tubes, was 12 to 15 meters high, and was braced by wire cables. On top of the mast was a horizontal metal frame, 8 to 10 meters long, with about seven thin cross bars. A small cabin was near the mast. *

3. The radio station was in operation on 10 May 1950. The metal frame was turning on its vertical axis. Noises similar to those produced by a code key were heard from the cabin. **

Comment. The existence of the radio station is reported for the first time. It is not known whether it is a Soviet Air Force installation. The epaulets which were seen have frequently been observed with guard details. The purpose of the radio station has not been determined.
